Millhouse Green crossing

Starting the route in the historic market town of Penistone, at the purpose built Trans Pennine Trail car park (to the rear of Tesco's), head down passed the skate Park and onto the trail. If you were to go right you would end up in Wortley, but you need to go left for Dunford. You'll notice immediately that it is slightly uphill all the way to Dunford Bridge, but never fear what goes up must come down and the return journey will be a lot easier. The entire route is very easy to follow and is essentially one track all the way through to Dunford Bridge. There are numerous crossing points along the route and on each occasion just proceed straight across. Only one of the crossing points is over a road at Millhouse Green where some traffic can be encountered.

BullHouse Project

A view along the Trail

Lets start the Trail - On leaving the car park at Penistone, follow the track to the rear, down past the skate park and onto the trail. Turn left towards Dunford Bridge and follow the track past the Penistone Showground and over the Thurlstone crossing point. Please be careful at the Millhouse Green crossing as you can come across traffic, and continue along the trail.

You will pass the Millennium Stone and you need to continue across the bridge over the A628. Keep on going through Bullhouse where you will be able to see the 'Bullhouse Mine Water Project'. Continue passed the Old Hazlehead station and on towards Wogden Foot which is a nature reserve, that contains a variety of wildlife and numerous different types of wild plants and flowers. Continue going straight ahead and you will end up at Dunford Bridge car park, where you can find some picnic benches for a well earned rest and before you start all over again!

Getting there: To get to Penistone station, you can catch the Northern Rail train service from Huddersfield and Sheffield (bikes are allowed on the trains) from the station it is a short walk up to Tesco's. There are main roads to move easily and quickly from surrounding towns.
